BENNETTSVILLE OFFICER SHOT TWICE AND KILLED

Rural Officer Found Dead on Main Road—Found in Company
With Slayer's Wife—Slayer
Surrendered to the Sheriff

Bennettsville, March 1.—C. A. Hargrave, Marlboro county rural policeman, is dead, shot twice in the chest with a .32 caliber pistol, and William S. Haynes, white man, is in the county jail, having come to Sheriff J. A. Weatherly last night at 11:45 o'clock and given himself up. He had followed the officer with his wife in his car on a lonely road about 11 o'clock last night, he told the sheriff, and had shot him twice and thought he had killed him.

The sheriff immediately went to the scene with Charles Peel, another rural policeman, and found Mr. Hargrave sitting behind the steering wheel of his car.

A coroner's jury empaneled by Coroner T. P. McEhee this afternoon held Riley for the shooting and Rufus Riley and Hollis Wyatt, white men, as accessories before and after the fact.

The shooting was done in the road in front of a schoolhouse in the Drake community, where Mrs. and Haynes testified at the inquest that, at the request of Mr. Haynes, he had driven Mrs. Haynes to Bennettsville yesterday afternoon.

In Haynes's car to do some shopping and that instead of going straight home they stopped at the little school, where Mrs. Haynes said she wanted to see some one. In a few minutes Mr. Hargrave drove up and Mrs. Haynes got into the car with him, telling Mr. Riley to wait for them. When they returned Mr. Haynes had taken the place of Mr. Riley in the car and fired two shots.

Hollis Wyatt, 16 year old boy, admitted going to the schoolhouse with Mr. Haynes and waiting for the return of the couple.

Mrs. Haynes declared that she was expecting her husband to try to run away with another woman on the 9:55 o'clock train from Bennettsville and had asked the sheriff to come with her to watch for them.

Another version of the affair that is being told, but which did not come into the testimony in the inquest, is that a member of a Ku Klux ring, or is in sympathy with that community and that Policeman Hargrave had been very vigorous in ferreting out these violations and that Mrs. Haynes had been "turning them" to him. Members of the Ku Klux ring had determined to get him, it is said, and took this opportunity to use the "woman" story as a device.

It was about a year ago, it is recalled, that Burdine H. Hatcher, rural policeman whose place was taken by Mr. Hargrave, was killed by a Negro blind tiger, not far from the scene of this officer's death.

Mrs. Haynes has a little girl, 10 years old, they are told, the wife of Drake, where her husband is chief engineer for the Whipple lumber company. Mr. Haynes was a native of Ocala, and leaves one daughter, Olivia, about 16 years of age, who lived with him at Blenheim. The Whitner Undertaking company here prepared the body for burial but funeral arrangements had not been made this afternoon.

FIRE DESTROYS OLANTA STORES

Six Buildings Burned Without Interference—Loss of Goods, of $25,000

Ocala, March 1.—A huge store and ten cent store, a meat market and three grocery stores were destroyed by fire which was discovered here at 10 o'clock Saturday night in the grocery establishment of I. A. Jordan, whose stock of goods was destroyed.

The flames spread to the other establishments rapidly and T. C. Brown also lost his stock of groceries. The other grocery house was owned by B. McElroy, but his stock was saved, as were those of the J. D. Mison and the J. Kelly Floyd drug store and the Tallon five and ten cent store.

There was no insurance on the stores destroyed. All the buildings were new.

It was the second heavy fire visited by Ocala in the past three months. Late tonight the flames were still burning but were thought to be under control.

A FINE RECORD

Woman Student at Winthrop
Keeps Two Sons in School
While She is Working for Degree in College

Rock Hill, Feb. 25.—Of the approximately 225 young women who will receive degree diplomas from the hands of Dr. D. B. Johnson, president of Winthrop college, at commencement week, the name of Miss Thompson, formerly of Williston, S. C., and now a resident of Eberness avenue, through sheer grit this student, who is a mother of two, will be among the number whose shepherds certificate should be engraved in golden letters. She graduates with an honor higher than a college can bestow.

Life is made up of unusual periods, but few so unusual as Mrs. W. W. Thompson's. Formerly of Williston, S. C., and now a resident of Eberness avenue, through sheer grit this student, who is a mother of two, will be among the number whose shepherds certificate should be engraved in golden letters. She graduates with an honor higher than a college can bestow.

The story is a simple one, for Mrs. Thompson is modest in telling of her struggles, but is charged with a straightforward sincerity that should brace the faintest of hearts.

Needed Training.

Mrs. Thompson, four years ago or a bit longer, was left upon her own resources with two small sons. She then taught school at a salary hardly sufficient to meet the immediate needs of the family. It was then that she determined to take a college course and prepare herself for high school teaching, so that as her sons grew older she could provide more adequately for their needs and educational training.

The thing that was nearly so hard as I was afraid it would be, though, she confessed by way of explanation when urged to leave her boys for high school teaching, was the subject of "Randy." As she called her two small sons, Randolph and Francis, came to her side and she placed her arms about them. "Randy" is in the second grade and Francis the third at the Winthrop training school and both are regarded as making excellent progress.

Teaches Night School.

"I have borrowed some of the money I am using," Mrs. Thompson pointed out. "That, of course, will have to be repaid when I get through school. But then I will have a degree in my pocket."

Mrs. Thompson has taught night school two days a week to help pay expenses, has performed other duties, and has managed to carry on her college work. When an extra day's work was needed, she has carried on her college work and kept a home. She prepares to come with her to watch for them.

For four summers she attended summer school at Winthrop after her college work. When an extra day's work was needed, she has carried on her college work and kept a home. She prepares to come with her to watch for them.

Moving to Rock Hill she took a modest apartment and secured a small table and chairs, and a lamp. And in spite of these distractions, she has done excellently college work. When an extra day's work was needed, she has carried on her college work and kept a home. She prepares to come with her to watch for them.

Efforts to Amend Compulsory Attendance Law Fails

Columbia, Feb. 25.—Efforts to place teeth in the compulsory attendance law on the statute books of South Carolina failed at the present session of the General Assembly was concerned when the Senate tonight struck out the enacting words of the bill of Sen. J. B. Pearce of Richland, and B. S. Rogers of Dillon.

Without a record vote, the Senate rejected the measure by a vote of 15 to 10. The measure was introduced by Young J. Charleston, to render the measure without effect.

A Thought for The Day

You must study to be frank with the world, frankness is the child of honesty and courage. Say just what you mean to do on every occasion, and take it for granted you meant to do right. If a friend asks a favor, you should grant it, if it is reasonable; if not, tell him plainly why you cannot; you will wrong him and wrong yourself by equivocation of any kind. Never do a wrong thing to make a friend or to keep one; the man who requires you to do so is clearly purchased at a sacrifice. Above all, do not appear to others what you are not. If you have any fault to find with any one, tell him, not others, of what you complain; there is no more dangerous experiment than that of undertaking to be one thing before a man's face and another behind his back. We should live, act and say, nothing to the injury of any one. It is not only best as a matter of principle, but it is the path to peace and honor. Duty, then, is the sublimest word in our language. Do your duty in all things. You cannot do more, you should never wish to do less.—Robert E. Lee.

$2,000,000 A YEAR SPENT ON RAT POISONS AND TRAPS

Figures recently collected by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that a little more than $2,000,000 is expended annually in the United States on products sold for rat control. Although this is a comparatively small item compared with other items in the list of losses chargeable to rats, it is one that can be measured with a reasonable degree of accuracy.

Letters were written to all concerns in the United States which were listed as being engaged in the manufacture of poisons or devices to combat rats. Reliable figures were received from 22 manufacturers of chemical poisons, from nine manufacturers of bacterial virus, and from four trap manufacturers. A compilation of the figures received showed that approximately $1,250,000 is expended annually for rat traps and baits.

For four summers she attended summer school at Winthrop after her college work. When an extra day's work was needed, she has carried on her college work and kept a home. She prepares to come with her to watch for them.

EX-SENATOR MARTINE
DIES IN FLORIDA

Former New Jersey Member of Upper House During Wilson's Administration

Miami, Fla. Feb. 27.—James Edgar Martine, former United States senator from New Jersey and one of the most picturesque figures during the presidency of Woodrow Wilson, died Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Cowan, where he was living during his stay here.

According to Mrs. Cowan, he had been ill for the last week but refused to go to a hospital for treatment. Apoplexy was determined as the cause of his death. Mrs. Cowan was with him during his last moments and said that his last request was to give his wife, Miss Ella Martine, his gold watch. But a few intimate friends after the Senate had accepted two amendments by Senator Carter, Bamberg, narrowing the scope of the measure. Senator Rogers, one of the authors, seconded the motion of the Charleston senator after the amendments had been adopted.

The effect of the principal Carter amendment would have been to exempt children over 10 years of age from provisions of the law, which they are the sole support of widowed mothers or incapacitated parents of either sex.

Night. House Members to Be Given Consideration—Special
Senate Committee Unable to Agree.

Columbia, S. C.—The House bill providing for amendments to the state highway act so as to raise the tax on gasoline to five cents a gallon and place the auto license fee back to the old figures, light cars paying $4 per year instead of $12, as is required under the law now in effect, and other licenses being reduced also will come up in the senate next Tuesday, the senate is expected to pass the bill by a special order.

The bill was introduced in the house by W. H. Keith, McMeekin and Robinson. When it was reached on the calendar of the senate yesterday, Senator Jeffords was unable to get the bill passed. The people want to know what we are going to do about auto license fees and the tax on gasoline," he said.

Several senators called attention to the fact that a special senate committee was appointed some time ago to take the various bills provided for amendments to the present highway act and when they draw up a bill and introduce it in the senate, Senator Duncan of Union is speaking on this phase of the matter said that the committee, unable to agree on a plan, has agreed to leave the matter taken up by the committee on roads, bridges and ferries, said that the committee would meet next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock order to consider the bill and prepare its report on the measure.

After several senators had spoken on the matter, it was decided to pass the bill, it was then taken up by the committee on roads, bridges and ferries, said that the committee would meet next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock order to consider the bill and prepare its report on the measure.

The bill under discussion provides for a 5 cent tax on gasoline to go to the state highway department and 1 cent to the counties, and also provides for a reduction in auto license fees. According to the provisions of the bill, auto taxes of $6 would be collected on vehicles of 2,000 pounds or less; $2 being charged for each additional 500 pounds.

On motion of Senator Butler of Cherokee, the special senate committee on highway measures was discharged with thanks.

Tuberculosis Campaign Brings Other Improvements

The farmers of Hillsdale County, Mich., demonstrated their practical foresight when in 1921 they decided to rid the entire county of bovine tuberculosis. It was the first county in the country to be put on this free list, the work being done in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture. Instead of sinking into their feather bed of luxury the people of this community have gone ahead with other improvements, stimulated by the good results of their big venture in disease eradication, which has increased their returns from dairy products and breeding stock.

Once the county had been freed of tuberculosis in its cattle herds, the economic benefits were so satisfactory that the farmers were stimulated to search for other ways of increasing the returns from their livestock. Next to the securing of healthy stock, the improvement in the quality of the animals appealed to them as being a logical step toward the elimination of a better livestock industry.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 27.—A special committee of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association decided at a meeting today to ask the four arms commission of the United States government to recommend sculptors qualified to carry the Confederate memorial at Stone Mountain to completion. It planned to select a sculptor to succeed Gutzon Borglum, who was dismissed Wednesday.

In the meantime Sheriff J. A. McCurdy of DeKalb county, in which Stone Mountain is located, continued to hunt for Bamberg and Tucker, the men who were charged with having destroyed the models and designs for carving the gigantic memorial on the side of the mountain. Dewey Simpson, Prominent Young Chester Man Shot and Almost Instantly Killed by Rock Hill
Traffic Officer Last Friday
Night—Officer Placed in York
Jail—Inquest Held Yesterday—
Testimony of Witnesses.

Mr. Dewey Simpson, 27 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson, of the Armanica section of Chester county, was shot and almost instantly killed by R. M. Mc-

Padden motor cycle officers of Rock Hill, last Friday night about

Mr. Simpson, with H. F. Richardson, Jr., Phil Coleman and Barney Cook, left Chester about nine o'clock in the latter's Maxwell automobile, for the purpose of attending a dance about two or ten o'clock on the outskirts of New Orleans. Paul Coleman and Barney Cook, left chambered at nine o'clock in the latter's Maxwell automobile, for the purpose of visiting the latter's home, three miles this side of Rock Hill at a filling station. After stopping at the place for a short while, the young men proceeded to Rock Hill, where they arrived at 10:15, turning and then going back up the street into East Main street. They were followed by Officer Sifford, who was on duty at the time. From information obtainable it appears that Barney Cook was speeding and blowing his automobile horn, attracting considerable attention. The officers, seeing this, the officer passed them on East Main street and hailed them to the Rock Hill filling station. The officer followed and when within a short distance of the station he pulled his gun and fired three times, killing Sifford. The men went through the trunk on the rear of the car. The other shot passed, through the lower edge of the trunk, and struck the back of Simpson and passing through his neck. The bullet went out of the car through the rear window a few inches of where one would expect the bullet to have been found. An examination of the car would indicate that the bullet changed its course slightly after passing through the trunk.

else it would have also struck Cook, who was driving the car. The shot which struck the trunk of the car, "the car had a 'Chester' sign on the front but there was no one in the car," Officer McFadden said.

Street runner in Rock Hill is to the effect that Officer McFadden was shooting at the driver of the car about five feet from the ground. McFadden was placed in the Rock Creek area.

McFadden is a native of the Lando section of Chester county and has lived in Rock Hill since 1926, where he operated a grocery store in Chester a few years ago. It is also said that Officer McFadden was a member of the Rock Hill Citizens' Club and was employed at the Eureka Cotton Mills. A Rock Hill party which was given last year and which was a World War Veterans' affair, was in a company with Captain Parks of Fort Mill. McFadden has been married for 12 years and his wife has a number of relatives in Chester county.

It is reported that Mr. J. W. Simpson, father of the young man killed, has employed Attorney Thos. McIlwain, of York, to assist him in his suit for compensation. Mr. McIlwain was present at the inquest in Rock Hill Monday afternoon.

It is being given the testimony will be given at the Coroner's inquest in Rock Hill. Richardson and Coleman and Cook testified yesterday afternoon. The jury rendered a verdict to the effect that the driver of the car was slain by a bullet fired by Officer R. M. McFadden.

was a World War veteran and served in a company with Captain Parks as a sergeant. He was known for the reputation of being "fiery." He has a number of relatives in the area.

It is understood that Mr. Walter Simpson, father of the young man killed, has employed Attorney J. Edgar Smith, who is the solicitor in the prosecution. Mr. McKee was present at the funeral in Rock Hill Monday afternoon.

Below will be found the testimony as given at the Coroner's inquest which was held yesterday afternoon and Coleman and Cook testified that they saw Simpson in the car when it was fired upon and that Dewey Simpson came to the aid of his brother after his death by a bullet fired by Officer Williams.

The inquest which was begun in Rock Hill early last Saturday morning at which H. F. Rich, coroner, presided, continued yesterday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, the appointed hour for the continuing of the proceedings. The courtroom in Rock Hill was crowded with people from Rock Hill and county who were interested in the proceedings. The testimony was given by the following witnesses:

Testimony was given by John, son of J. Edgar Smith, who testified that he saw Simpson in the car when it was fired upon and that Dewey Simpson came to the aid of his brother after his death by a bullet fired by Officer Williams.

The funeral services of young Simpson was held at Capers Chapel Sunday morning at eleven o'clock by Rev. E. G. Whitlock, the pastor, assisted by Rev. J. H. Yarborough. The interment was made in the church graveyard. The funeral was one of the largest.

The following editorial appeared in The Rock Hill Herald of last week. It has reference to the killing of Mr. Simpson by the Rock Hill officer: "A most unfortunate tragedy occurred on Rock Hill street last week, and many have already formed an opinion that borders on severe condemnation of one party or another.

There are two sides to this misfortune, one that deals with intoxicated anti-socials who persistently violate the law, and the other uphold the law and the other side that involves a too hasty use of a pistol by an officer whose patience was tested to the limit by the resistance when endeavoring to bring to justice offenders who were in the habit of defying it.

"It will be wise to withhold judgment of the case until officers have a chance to develop all phases of the case and to assume responsibility where it properly belongs. In the meantime there will be suffering and regrets on the part of the community who are directly involved in the tragedy."

WOULD NOT TAKE POWER TO TAX COMMISSION

Columbia, Feb. 25.—(Corable action on a measure to limit the powers of the state tax commission was taken today by the state senate, which took a 12-10 position by opponents of the bill.

The Senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator T. Bothwell, which would require the bill to amend the code so as to further prescribe the duties of the tax commission. Vote on the amendment was 12-10, with 12 against. The amended bill was then advanced to third or final reading.

WOULD LIMIT POWER OF TAX COMMISSIONERS

Columbia, Dec. 26.—Favorable action on a measure to limit the power of the state commission on taxes was taken today by the state Senate in spite of strenuous opposition by opponents of the bill. The Senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator T. Bottwell Butler of Cherokee, to his bill to amend the code so as to further prescribe the duties of the tax commission. Vote on the amendment was 20-for and 17-against. The amended bill was then advanced to third or final reading.

The home of Dr. R. H. McFadden on West End, was materially damaged by fire early last night. The fire apparently caught in the roof of the residence and the alarm had been turned into the fire department before the occupants of the residence knew the home was on fire. Our Chester Firefighters.

The fire fighters of Chester deserve the highest praise and deepest heartfelt appreciation for their wonderful work at the fire Monday night when Dr. R. H. McFadden's house was afire.

Their work was thoroughly effective, saving the building and its entire contents from being consumed.

Their response was immediate when the alarm was given and although the entire roof seemed to catch afire at one time the firemen placed the apparatus on the roof and worked the hose and had the water dousing the shingle roof before the flames could penetrate it.

Owing to the fireman's ready response and their rapid work and excellent judgment the flames were confined to the roof and in fact only about one quarter of the roof itself was burned thru, the entire inside of the building being saved.

Besides the severe cold, there was a high wind blowing from the north and the new bungalow about twenty feet to the left of the burning building was saved from the least damage.

SURPRISING PEOPLE.

By Wickes Wamboldt
A woman who had not been back to the home for 10 years decided to surprise her father. She packed up herself and the five children and set forth.

His train was delayed and she arrived at the home at 11 o'clock in the morning. It was cold and rainy.

When she had deposited her and her young and her luggage at the front door, she had to be hampered and hauled for half an hour before she could get anybody up.

"And when her father, his neighbors let the drenched and shivering group into the house it was not what you might call an inspiring occasion.

"Why in the world didn't you let us know you were coming?" he chided. "We should have met you and been ready for you."

"I wanted to surprise you," said his damp and disheveled daughter.

"And she had surprised them, too. She surprised them with a house full of company and definite plans laid out for a week.

End-fall had to sleep on the floor arrangements for a week. It was a surprise to the family. It turned out as well as the cruise of the Peace Ship.

The idea of jumping in on folks and surprising them is wrong psychology. The individual who plunges down in their midst for a week without warning knocks half the fun and perhaps all the fun out of the proposition.

One of the jolliest parts of a visit is the anticipation of it and sometimes that is the only jolly part of it.

Friends or relatives come to stay with us and maybe on the time they arrive things go wrong. The children get the croup. The auto gets smashed. The radio gets static. The cook gets cranky. And a dozen things may occur to make the whole business a failure.

Then, if the visitor has not notified the visitee and there has not been the pleasure of anticipation, there will have been no pleasure at all.

Put yourself in the other fellow's place. If you had not seen yourself for 10 years and thought the world and all of yourself wouldn't you get a great deal of joy from anticipating the fact that you were coming to visit yourself?

And wouldn't you like to get the spare room in order and sweep under the bed and put fresh flowers in the vase and mend the holes in the sheets and roll the wheelbarrow around to the back of the house and do all the little things that would make a good impression on yourself when you came to visit yourself? You certainly would.

JUST HIS WAY.

By Wickes Wamboldt
Certain business man's telephone rang and he took off the receiver. "Well, what do you want," he growled.

"If you are half as disagreeable as you sound, I don't want anything of you," said the person at the other end of the line and hung up.

The man who had growled out the uncivil salutation didn't mean anything by it. It was just his way. There was a twinkle in his eye and a smile on his lip.

But the fellow at the other end of the line couldn't get the twinkle or the smile and he didn't know that man's way.

It is unfortunate to have ways that people have to learn before they can like us. It is said that a friend is one who knows us and still likes us. There are people whom one has to know before one can like them and be friends with them. They have little ways that "stand in the way" of personal acquaintances that offend in a way that we learn that these are superficial and not of the heart.

A certain manufacturer engaged a new salesman. The manufacturer had a liking mode of expression and he was wont to indulge more freely in his conversation than in his conversation. When he dictated his letter he dictated.

The first time this new salesman received one of those exhorting communications he hoped on to the train and went in to headquarters.

He walked into his chief of file, threw the offending letter on the desk and asked, "What's the big idea?"

"The chief was a little frustrated. He knew he had no business to write a letter like that. He knew it wasn't warranted and he knew he didn't mean it. He flashed at and related uncomfortable.

"Oh, that's all right," he said. "That's just my way."

"All right," said the salesman. "I like you and I like to work for you. But don't you do anything like that to me again, because it's my way to like a man in the eye when I get mixed to like that."

"You often hear it said when someone does something nasty, 'Well, that's his way.' The other legal transaction is 'That's just his way.' So doesn't mean anything by it." He or her "way" merely means a "cruelty of character" something that needs to be polished off, or reduced, or perhaps eliminated altogether. It is just a lack of education—a lack of self control—a lack of co-ordination of the physical, the mental and the spiritual. It is lack of knowledge.

When we have a way that stands in our way we had better get it out of the way.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nerina, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Theodore's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he writes:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks about two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have distress and could not work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels moved and a couple of times, three times, then I would be very comfortable."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began to use it. I never found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything. It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual health, feel full of pep and could do twice the work."

One cent a box. NO. 141.

THEODORE'S BLACK-DRAUGHT LIVER MEDICINE

THE FLORIDA TAX LAWS.

The State of Florida came into the papers in fine shape several months ago when it made public renunciation of the system of imposing inheritance taxes. This action was characterized in some quarters as merely an advertising scheme, and probably it was just that, but it has proved something more, for the promise in exchange, incorporated therein, has been taken seriously and the winter tourists have taken out "naturalization papers" in Florida. The law in that State "forever constitutionally prohibits a State inheritance and inheritance tax," and forever constitutionally prohibits more than a total of five mills on intangible property. Miami reports much activity in enrollment of new residents, with every lawyer in the State becoming an authority on "change of domicile to avoid taxation." The interest manifested by the public has been great, and the State's publication of a book on taxation in Florida. This book is edited by Patrick Murphy, LL. B., and among the points set forth are these:

"Florida is the only State whose citizens are constitutionally protected against an inheritance tax of any kind."

One of the largest sources of revenue of the State of Florida is a tax on gasoline, which produced $1,257,000 in the year 1923. This tax is three cents per gallon, two cents of which goes for State roads and one cent is divided equally between the counties of the State.

The fees received by the State for issuing corporation charters amounted in 1923 to $214,692. The fees for the State for corporations, operating in the State are required to pay an annual franchise tax. There is no taxation on stock sales in Florida; the State has no mortgage tax of any kind, no direct sales tax, no death tax, no trust tax and no gift tax.

For the taxpayer to avail himself of Florida's tax laws he must move his domicile and property into the State. The change of domicile—as distinguished from change of residence—must be actual, real and honest without taint of fraud or subterfuge, or concealment or collusion. The act must be done openly and in good faith. The motive for the change is of no importance; but the good faith of the change is most important. Because domicile is largely a matter of intent, a few acts showing intent are set down by Mr. Murphy:

1. By actually moving your place of principal residence into Florida.

2. By paying a Florida poll tax ($1.00).

3. By not paying a poll tax in any State other than Florida unless compelled to do so as a prerequisite for paying land taxes, etc., and in such event declaring your residence to be in Florida.

Repayment in Kind.

By Joseph P. Watkins
Stephen G. Clow, editor of Broadway Brevities, has been sentenced to serve his years in the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., and to pay a fine of six thousand dollars upon conviction of blackmail in threatening to blast the lives of individuals by publication of their social and moral errors unless they paid him the treasury of the publication, stipulated sums of money. It is said that Clow had collected many thousands of dollars by digging out the skeletons in the closets of private families. He is now out on bond pending an appeal and Broadway Brevities will be suspended.

Broadway Brevities has long been known as an unsavory publication, in spite of which it is said to have attained a wide circulation. There is a certain class of people to whom scandal is the breath of life. It was to these that Clow made his strongest appeal. There are few people in whose lives there is not some dark corner. Clow and his associates grew wealthy through threats of exposure of the misdeeds of others. But retribution has at last fallen heavily upon him. He has been stripped to his filthy soul and held up to the public scorn. He has sunk to the lowest depths of human depravity. He has been sentenced to wear the stripes of a felon and to spend some years behind strong walls.

There is nothing more deplorable than to use the printed word for purposes of blackmail. It is said that presumably innocent people are forced to pay in order to save their reputation from attack by innuendo. The victims of Clow's method will run into the thousands. Much of the harm that he has done can never be undone. He is a human culture and his food is human carnage. He used his talents to prostitute the power of the press. Legitimate publications will suffer because a man like Clow has been allowed to live. If he had never lived the world would not have suffered.

Such men as Clow are infamous. Thank God, there are very few of him. The majority of men are decent in their thoughts as well as in their lives. Life's pathway is full of rocks; it is little wonder that some men stumble somewhere along the route. The world is willing to be lenient in its judgment, and to pass over these secret places in the lives of wayfarers. There are quite a few of us who could be forever damned if there were a Clow in every state to dust and make our skeletons dance.

WOMEN DO THE BUYING

The modern woman is a business woman. She makes eighty per cent of all purchases made in retail stores. She is an astute, clever buyer and runs her house on a strictly business basis.

The modern woman is constantly in touch with the stores and their offerings. Through the advertising she knows the lowest prices, the best qualities and the latest commodities. Long before she leaves the house for a shopping trip, she knows exactly what she wants, where to get it and how much to pay.

She buys merchandise of established reputation. If it's clothing, she knows how well it should wear and what the style should be. If it's food, she knows what to expect in nutrition values and price. If it's a vacuum cleaner, she knows what kind of service it should give.

Ask her and she will tell you that it pays to read the advertisements. It will pay you, too. It will save you time, money and effort. It will help you dress better, eat better, sleep better and live better.
